

DJPC's 2010 Salon Discussion Series Presents:

The Devil Operation

as part of the Summer Film Series

Join us as we view the premiere of this documentary at the DocuWest Documentary Film Festival.

Father Marco, a priest from the mountains of Peru, is followed by a private security firm who is documenting his every move; their reports are code-named "The Devil Operation". They are connected to S. America's largest gold mine, owned by the Newmont Mining Corporation of Colorado. For two decades, Father Marco has defended farming communities against the Yanacocha mine's abuses. Film-maker Stephanie Boyd has spent 10 years documenting the farmers' struggle and became caught up in this real-life political thriller.

DocuWest - We Have Issues! Awarded Best Film Fest 2010
by Westword Festival Dates: June 23-27

DocWest looks to explore the world of our people, our politics, our societies, our history and ourselves through the lens of filmmakers from around the globe. Our objective is to present our audiences with stories that are not only astonishing and jarring, but awe-inspiring and thought-provoking; stories that enable dialogue and discourse to take place over the people, events or subjects presented in each film.

Tickets: $5 Available online or at the door but if you buy them from DJPC part of the proceeds will go to DJPC
